Theme

Jesus' Return (Second Coming), Worship, Perseverance

Objective

Students will understand the hope and urgency of Jesus' return and respond with worship, obedience, and confidence in His promises.

Warm Up

On the Clock– Start a one minute countdown on the screen. Tell students you'll be asking them to move to corners of the room based on how they feel about waiting.

» Corner 1: I'm chill with waiting
» Corner 2: I get annoyed
» Corner 3: I get anxious
» Corner 4: I hate waiting

Give quick scenarios and have them move for each one.

» Waiting on a package
» Waiting for grades
» Waiting for a text back
» Waiting for prayers to be answered
» Waiting for Jesus to return

Discuss:

- What makes waiting so hard for people?
- Why does waiting feel heavier when it's related to faith?
- How does your attitude change when you know the waiting has a guaranteed end?

Transition

Waiting is part of life, but not everything we wait for is equal. Hulvey's song captures that tension. The longing, the ache, the hope, and the confidence that Jesus really is coming again. Let's watch the video and let that promise sink in.

The Video

Play the "He Will Return" music video by Hulvey.

Discuss:

- What emotion hit you first while watching?
- Which moment or lyric grabbed your attention most?
- How did the visuals help communicate the message of Jesus' return?
- What part of the video made the idea of His return feel more real or personal?

Transition

This song and video point us straight to a promise Jesus made clearly and repeatedly. Scripture doesn't frame His return as something to fear. It frames it as hope, purpose, and clarity for how we live today. Let's look at what the Bible says about waiting well and living ready.

Bible Study

Read Matthew 24:42-44
Jesus tells His followers to stay awake and to be ready because His return will come unexpectedly.

- What does staying ready for Jesus look like in your everyday life?
- What is it that tends to make people spiritually sleepy?
- Why do you think Jesus wants His return to feel sudden and surprising?
- What is one habit you could build that keeps your heart awake?

Read Titus 2:11-14
We are taught to live with self-control, godliness, and hope as we wait for Jesus.

- What does this passage teach about waiting and worship?
- How does living with expectancy shape your choices?
- What does "eager for good works" look like for you?
- How does this passage challenge you to live with purpose?

Read Revelation 21:1-5
Jesus will return to make all things new. No more death, pain, or tears.

- Which part of this promise stands out to you the most?
- How does this vision give hope when life gets heavy?
- Why do you think God emphasizes wiping away tears?
- How does the future promise of renewal strengthen your faith today?

Read Acts 1:9-11
The angels confirm that Jesus will return in the same way He left.

- What do you imagine the disciples felt in that moment?
- Why does it matter that His return is historically grounded?
- How does this passage of Scripture challenge complacency?
- What helps you remember that Jesus' return is literal, not symbolic?

Wrap Up

Jesus will return. That truth isn't meant to scare us. It is meant to anchor us. It gives hope when life gets heavy. It focuses us when our priorities drift. It calls us to live awake, worshiping, and ready.

Challenge: Identify one thing this week that helps you live ready for Jesus. Read Scripture. Pray consistently. Serve someone. Encourage someone. Share your faith. Choose worship over worry.

Close in prayer. "Jesus, thank You for the promise of Your return. Help us live awake and ready, full of hope, love, and purpose as we wait for You. Amen."
